

The Birth of The Bling

by Adrian Hill

Clunk, clunk, clunk . . . the sounds of my rock tumbler hidden in the corner of my bedroom. As a teen, I fell asleep to the rhythm of my precious rocks being transformed into gemstones. That was my passion.

It still is. For Halloween, I make a line I call Re-Creations from vintage jewelry which endows the supernatural aura of "past lives" to the piece. I also create Earthlines made from various gemstones, especially clear quartz, a natural mineral that protects the health and safety of the wearer.

I remember the tumbler in my closet wrapped in towels to help muffle the sound as it rotated the mixture of rocks, sand, and water. It was noisy, but the result was the rocks being transformed into shiny, smooth gemstones. I learned this technique from lapidary classes working with silver and using a technique called lost wax casting to make rings. I also cut cabochons from thin rock slabs to change into gemstones.

Today we still believe in luck, wealth, and health. The right jewelry continues to have true metaphysical qualities. You can prove it to yourself by contacting me. I'll send you facts and photos!

Who is Light In The Dark Paranormal?

Light in the Dark Paranormal is an investigatory group specializing in allegedly haunted residences and other buildings (especially those for sale), and ghost towns and old mining sites in the Rocky Mountains of the West. LIDP consists of Paul & Adrian Hill and Louise Bosche.

Paul is the publisher/editor of this newsletter, plus co-founder of our investigative group. He has a BA in psychology and has been formally looking into paranormal phenomena since 2012. He has had the interest and aptitude in the subject since college, and is a clairsentient sensitive specializing in video.

Louise is a natural-born psychic sensitive, and attracts phenomenon to her. She is presently an environmental consultant, having retired from her job with the City of Pueblo. She specializes in audio recording.

Adrian, a sensitive in her own right, is retired from the medical community, and specializes in paranormal still photography. She devotes the rest of her time to the design, manufacture, and marketing of her jewelry.

LIDP has gone through several iterations, but is now a stable association that operates as a small business, not a weekend hobby. It no longer does investigations for "free," though that remains the prevailing ethic for most investigators. There are many groups to choose from! Although we are not among those folks, we are in fact ghost "magnets" due to our sensitivities and abilities. Paul's background as a real estate broker for the last 25 years also allows him to consult with buyers and sellers of both residential and commercial properties to help determine their spiritual suitability. ✨

Is your home (or the one you want to buy) spiritually afflicted?
